St. Moritz

St. Moritz (<http://www.stmoritz.ch/en/>) (German: Sankt Moritz, Italian: San Maurizio, French: Saint-Moritz) is in the Upper Engadin in the canton of Graubünden in Switzerland. It is one of the best-known vacation spots in Europe. It is chic and famous for its ambiance, and is situated next to Engadine's lakescape at 1,856 metres above sea level. The bubbly "champagne atmosphere" is as legendary as the St. Moritz sun, which shines on an average 322 days a year!

Get in

You can get to St.Moritz by train, bus, car, or air.

By train

If you arrive at the International Airport Zurich take the SBB (<http://www.sbb.ch/en/home.html>) train to Chur and from there the Rhb train (<http://www.rhb.ch/index.php?id=1643?&L=4>) over the famous Albulapass to 1 St. Moritz train station. Trains from Chur to St. Moritz run hourly. The last train from St. Moritz to Chur departs at 21:00.

Lake St Moritz

Furthermore, St. Moritz is the starting point for the famous Glacier Express (<http://www.glacierexpress.ch/en/>) and the Palm Express (<https://www.postauto.ch/en/leisure/palm-express>).

By car

If you are coming by car from Switzerland the only pass which is open in winter is the 2 Julier Pass. . If you come from Davos or Klosters you can take the cartrain from Klosters through the Fluelapass. From Italy you drive over the Bernina or the Maloja.

By plane

There is a small airport in Samedan (SMV^{IATA}), which is around 5 km (3.1 mi) 20 minutes away from St. Moritz. It provides flights to the international airports of Zurich, Geneva, Basel, Milan, and Munich. You can also take a train from Zurich or a bus from Milan; both take about 4 hours.

By bus

St. Moritz is served by the Post Bus (<http://www.postauto.ch/en/pag-startseite>), departing from right next to the train station. Buses depart towards Chur and Lugano (and back). Reservations may be necessary. The last Post Bus from St. Moritz to Chur leaves at 23:00. Later there are not any bus or train connections from St. Moritz to Chur. On the way, you can admire a lot of Swiss villages and spectacular mountain views. You can reach St. Moritz from Milan by bus.

Get around

St. Moritz has a good public transport network. Biking is also very good around St. Moritz, however it is sometimes a bit steep. There are very few parking places in wintertime.
